Now in its 5th edition, this high-level conference will address a range of broad topics highlighting the role of chemistry in contributing to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals, including in developing countries.

The conference aims to provide a multi-disciplinary forum for participants from academia and industry, from authorities and other institutions to address the sustainability challenges we are facing today.

New for 2020 is a partnership with ISC3 during their Global Sustainable Chemistry Week. ISC3 aims to provide a platform for the international dialogue on sustainable chemistry, connecting stakeholders from various backgrounds and bridging the gap between the political, the business and the scientific debates on chemistry and sustainable development.

Although the format of the Green & Sustainable Chemistry Conference remains unchanged, we anticipate that there can be important synergies between the two events.

Topics Include

- Energy conversion and storage
- CO2 utilisation / Sustainable chemistry and climate change
- Solving the micro and nano plastic issues
- Sustainable chemistry in society
- Waste recycling and re-use: From e-waste to bioresources
- Artificial intelligence for solving sustainability problems
- Recent advances in green synthesis and catalysis
- Start-ups and sustainable chemistry
- Sustainable chemistry and environmental science
- Green analytical techniques
- Photochemistry and photocatalysis:
- Sustainable chemistry and developing countries – Focus on Africa
