Open access
At the core of Elsevier’s publishing mission

Over 90 percent of the journals we launch are open access. In 2019 we published over 49,000 gold open access articles, a double-digit growth on the previous year. Today Elsevier is one of the world’s fastest-growing open access publishers.

Whatever your discipline, there’s an open access home for your research. With over 2,300 journals that offer gold open access publishing options, we’ve got you covered.

Here are some of the benefits you’ll enjoy:

High visibility
Reach the audience your research deserves

Proven trust
140 years’ experience curating and verifying scientific knowledge

Top quality
Rigorous standards & quality journals across the board

Powerful innovation
Access to state-of-the-art innovations that measure your impact and make your life easier

Wide choice
Select the publishing model that’s right for you
