

Elsevier's Business & Management Journals

Elsevier is a global information analytics company publishing leading journals in Business and Management and related areas. We are proud of our unique contributions to sustainable development – from our publishing portfolios and analytics capabilities to building research capacity in developing countries and advancing diversity in science.

For more information, visit elsevier.com/business

