Handbook of Clinical Neurology

ISSN: 0072-9752

Series Editor:

Michael Aminoff, MD, DSc, FRCP, distinguished professor and executive vice chair, Department of Neurology, University of California, San Francisco, CA

François Boller, MD, PhD, medical officer, Division of Extramural Activities, National Institute of Mental Health, Bethesda, MD, USA

Dick Swaab, Netherlands Institute for Brain Research, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

The Handbook of Clinical Neurology (HCN) was originally conceived and edited by Pierre Vinken and George Bruyn as a prestigious, multivolume reference work that would cover all the disorders encountered by clinicians and researchers engaged in neurology and allied fields. The first series of the Handbook (Volumes 1-44) was published between 1968 and 1982 and was followed by a second series (Volumes 45-78), guided by the same editors, which concluded in 2002. By that time, the Handbook had come to represent one of the largest scientific works ever published.

In 2002, Professors Michael J. Aminoff, François Boller, and Dick F. Swaab took on the responsibility of supervising the third (current) series, the first volumes of which published in 2003. They have designed this series to encompass both clinical neurology and also the basic and clinical neurosciences that are its underpinning. Given the enormity and complexity of the accumulating literature, it is almost impossible to keep abreast of developments in the field, thus providing the raison d'être for the series. The series will thus appeal to clinicians and investigators alike, providing to each an added dimension.

Now, more than 140 volumes after it began, the Handbook of Clinical Neurology series has an unparalleled reputation for providing the latest information on fundamental research on the operation of the nervous system in health and disease, comprehensive clinical information on neurological and related disorders, and up-to-date treatment protocols. Its availability electronically on Elsevier's ScienceDirect site as well as in print format should ensure its ready accessibility and facilitate searches for specific information. Recognition of the series by the U.S. National Library has allowed abstracts of individual chapters to be obtained through PubMed, increasing their visibility.

Clinical Neurophysiology, the latest release in the Handbook of Clinical Neurology series is organized into sections on the basics of clinical neurophysiology, central nervous system disease states, peripheral nervous system disease states, sleep disorders, and autonomic disorders. Specific central nervous system topics include epilepsy, altered states of consciousness, CNS demyelinating diseases, stroke, pain, movement disorders, vestibular disease, auditory disorders, disorders of cognition, and prognostication in disorders of consciousness. Peripheral nervous system topics include focal mononeuropathies, generalized polyneuropathies, muscle diseases, hyperexcitability states, neuromuscular junction disorders, anterior horn cells diseases, and cranial neuropathies.

Sleep disorders covered include apneas, hypersomnias, parasomnias, and circadian rhythm disorders. Autonomic topics include primary autonomic failure, multisystem atrophy, and postural orthostatic tachycardia.
