Your library may support a small organization but that isn't reflected in the big demands placed on you by your students, faculty and researchers. They do important work, and their varied information needs are no different than those of the largest research-intensive institutions.

ArticleChoice puts the critical information your users need at their fingertips without stretching your budget. It's the perfect choice for small to medium-sized academic institutions and research organizations with a focused mission.

- Available in bundles of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 or 500 articles and book chapters
- Full ScienceDirect functionality, including in-depth searching, CrossRef linking and personalization features
- Monthly usage reports available for easy publication purchase tracking
